WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

1. Introduction to WSIB (Beginner)

This workshop is designed to explore the basics of how the worker deals with WSIB. The basics include: What is compensation, when and how to report an accident / injury and to whom. Then it explores how to navigate through the complex compensation system. This workshop will provide the worker with their basic rights under the Workplace Safety and Insurance Act and outlines the various forms needed when submitting a claim for benefits.

2. Pre-existing Conditions & Aggravation Basis Policies (WSIB Advanced)

This workshop will take an in depth look at these Board Policies which have been in place for almost a year now. There will be discussion on the implementation and application of these Policies. Discussion on the experience advocates have on how case managers are applying these Policies and the effect on the worker will be the focus. It is intended that this workshop will be very interactive.

3. Appeals (WSIB Advanced)

This workshop will take a look at the WSIB appeal system. The step by step process on “how to” appeal a negative decision made by the case manager at the WSIB will be discussed and the process of appeal up to and including the Appeals Resolution Officer [ARO] level. The process on “how to” appeal a decision of the ARO to the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal [WSIAT] will also be reviewed. It is intended that this workshop will be very interactive.

4. WHSC Provincial Appeals (H&S) (2 sessions - 6 hours)

This workshop is designed to explore the basics of appeal framework set out in the Occupational Health and Safety Act. As an action objective, participants will be able to evaluate MOL inspectors’ decisions and orders, and investigate the merits of contacting the union to file an appeal in a timely manner. (Please note: participation in this workshop will be over both workshop days.)

5. Preventing Mental Injuries (H&S)

New forms of work, job insecurity, work intensification, high demands, violence and a resulting poor work-life balance are resulting in psychosocial and mental health problems in CUPE workplaces. Employers claiming to be concerned with workers’ mental health are introducing wellness programs and continuous improvement schemes. They are also bringing ill-equipped consultants into CUPE workplaces to use “tools” that profile workers to “psychologically fit” them into appropriate jobs. This workshop will examine the flaws in the new array of so-called tools and systems that are being brought into our workplaces. It will focus on the workplace as the cause of mental health issues, and not the individual. Participants will discuss strategies and actions that will actually help make workplaces psychologically healthier and safer.

6. Investigating workplace incidents & diseases (H&S)

This workshop is designed to provide participants with the knowledge to identify common causes of workplace incidents, injuries and diseases, how investigations are conducted and who the key players are. Workshop participants will be able to identify the root causes of workplace incidents and diseases, how to document evidence and conduct interviews and suggest ways to prevent future incidents from reoccurring. In addition, participants will conduct an investigation of an incident of workplace violence.

7. Federal Health and Safety Law Update (H&S)

This workshop is designed to provide CUPE members from Federally-regulated workplace with updates on recent changes in the Canada Labour Code and how these changes have affected the occupational health and safety framework within our workplaces. As part of this workshop, participants will also be provided with examples of how those changes in legislation have been applied by Health and Safety Officers.
