

Cassellholme is our community long-term care home.

We own it together.

But some including Nipissing area councillors want to make Cassellholme a private residence. This will affect care quality.

It's not right.

Find out how you can help keep Cassellholme public.

Join us for an important community forum:

June 7, 2016 at 7 p.m.
North Bay Area Museum,
100 Ferguson Street, North Bay

GUEST SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Dr. Susan Braedley

Assistant Professor Carleton University and researcher on two international studies, Re-Imagining Long-Term Residential Care: An International Study of Promising Practices and Healthy Ageing in Residential Places.

Fred Hahn

President Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) Ontario.

Natalie Mehra

Director Ontario Health Coalition

For many decades many seniors in our community lived at Cassellholme.

Let's work together to keep Cassellholme a municipal, public home.
