

Upcoming Health and Safety Virtual Workshop Opportunities

Are you curious about workplace health and safety? Are you a new member of a joint health and safety committee? Do you have many years of experience on a joint health and safety committee and looking to find out more?

There is always value in new learning opportunities. That's why the CUPE Ontario Health and Safety Committee would like you to know about these upcoming virtual workshops.

CUPE - Health and Safety - An Introduction – (Online Learning Series) – English

The CUPE Health and Safety Learning Series gives participants a wide range of knowledge and skills related to workplace health and safety. After taking the introductory workshop, members can complete other workshop modules from the Health and Safety Learning Series. To receive a certificate, participants need to complete the introduction workshop, all four skills workshops, at least three perspectives workshops, and at least three specific hazard workshops.

The 2-part online introductory workshop offers participants an entry level into the world of health and safety and explores different basic concepts such as the:

- ✓ identification of hazards;
- ✓ hierarchy of controls;
- ✓ basic role of health and safety committees;
- ✓ basics on the right to refuse.

NOTE: Completion of the Part One workshop is required to register for Part Two.

Workers Health and Safety Centre (Virtual)

WHSC has innovated to offer worker-based quality training in live, real-time virtual classrooms. All that is required is a high-speed internet connection and a computer with a functioning camera and audio. Participants learn from a WHSC-qualified instructor alongside other remote learners in interactive sessions conducted from the safety of their home or workplace.

All workshops are delivered in 3-hour modules. Discounts available for Union locals and members.
